SECURITY – STUDENTS AT RISK

Parents/Guardians are reminded once again of the importance of dropping off for 7:30 a.m. and collecting their children by 4:00 p.m. Teachers' duty begins and 7:30 a.m. We are happy for the feedback received from the USSR program and the students have been responding well to it. We are encouraged to see parents reading with their children as well. Allowance is made for students in after-care and after-school-tutorials. These students must be picked up by the arranged time when these sessions conclude. A fee is charge for these services. Students loitering on campus without any arrangement will be reported to the Children and Family Services Unit, since the school cannot guarantee their safety before 7:30 a.m. and after 5:00 p.m. We cannot reiterate enough the implications failure to comply with the School's Policy has for us when parents/guardians do not comply with these requirements.

Note however the exception made for the Early Childhood Division. An additional fee will charged to the students' account if they are not collected by 5:30 p.m. Monday-Thursday and by 3:30 p.m. on Friday from the After-School care programme in the Early Childhood Division.

JUST A THOUGHT ON THE FRUIT OF DISCIPLINE

For the moment all discipline seems painful rather than pleasant, but later it yields the peaceful fruit of righteousness to those who have been trained by it” (Heb. 12:11).

In our sinful condition, we hate to be disciplined. We do not like to be punished or submit to rules that are designed for our own good. We do not like to endure hardship today even though we know it may bring good later on.

So much do we hate discipline that we often misunderstand the purposes of strife and hardship in our lives. Sometimes we begin to think that God must not truly love us if we are suffering. Sometimes we might even doubt that we are truly His children.

These responses to suffering were evidently manifesting themselves in the lives of the original audience of the epistle to the Hebrews. Some even considered abandoning Christ because they thought their suffering proved that “they were not His children.”

However, the suffering endured by the original audience of Hebrews proved that they were in fact sons of God. For the Lord disciplines only those whom He loves (12:5–6). Therefore, the author calls them (and us) to endure the discipline of God (v. 7). This discipline is for our good, so that we might share in His holiness (v. 10).

In today’s passage, the author addresses the difficulties of the Lord’s discipline in a very pastoral manner. He says in verse 11 that yes, discipline does seem painful for the moment. He does know how hard it is to endure God’s chastisement. However, the pain of discipline is not an excuse for us to avoid it. He also reminds us that while things may seem painful at the moment, the good that discipline produces will far outweigh our temporary pain. For it will result in the “peaceable fruit of righteousness.” This fruit will last forever. ~ Website:
